DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The incorporation of essential material in the specification by reference to an unpublished U.S. application, foreign application or patent, or to a publication is improper. Applicant is required to amend the disclosure to include the material incorporated by reference, if the material is relied upon to overcome any objection, rejection, or other requirement imposed by the Office. The amendment must be accompanied by a statement executed by the applicant, or a practitioner representing the applicant, stating that the material being inserted is the material previously incorporated by reference and that the amendment contains no new matter. 37 CFR 1.57(f).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 7, 9, 10 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

4. Regarding claims 7 and 9A broad range or limitation together with a narrow range or limitation that falls within the broad range or limitation (in the same claim) is considered indefinite, since the resulting claim does not clearly set forth the metes and bounds of the patent protection desired. See MPEP § 2173.05(c). Note the explanation given by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in Ex parte Wu, 10 USPQ2d 2031, 2033 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1989), as to where broad language is followed by "such as" and then narrow language. The

Art Unit: 3644

Board stated that this can render a claim indefinite by raising a question or doubt as to whether the feature introduced by such language is (a) merely exemplary of the remainder of the claim, and therefore not required, or (b) a required feature of the claims. Note also, for example, the decisions of Ex parte Steigewald, 131 USPQ 74 (Bd. App. 1961); Ex parte Hall, 83 USPQ 38 (Bd. App. 1948); and Ex parte Hasche, 86 USPQ 481 (Bd. App. 1949). In the present instance, claim 7 recites the broad recitation at least 10%, and the claim also recites preferably at least 20% which is the narrower statement of the range/limitation, claim 9 recites the broad recitation at least 5 % and the claim also recites preferably at least 10% which is the narrower statement of the range/limitation.

5. Claim 10 recites the limitation "said displacement-changing relative movement" and "said length-changing relative movement in lines 2-3. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

6. Claim 13 recites the limitation "the mass center of the displacement" and "the mass center of the wobbler" in line 3. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 3644

8. Claims 1-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bowman, US Patent 3,337,981 in view of Simmons, US Patent 2,709,868.

9. Bowman discloses a rotationally symmetrical first structural member (12) in threaded engagement with a second structural member (10) enclosing two cavities having a volume filled with gas which is variable by means of relative rotary motion, having sealing members (22, 17). However, Bowman does not disclose at least one point of attachment for a line and a hook. Simmons teaches within the same field of endeavor the use of a hook (58) and line (32) attachment for using a float as a lure. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to place a hook and line attachment on the device of Bowman so as to allow for interchangeable usage of the apparatus as taught by Simmons.

10. Regarding claims 7 and 9, Bowman in view of Simmons discloses the invention but does not disclose the claimed volume increase or length difference. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have at least a 20% increase in volume and the second length at least 10% longer than the first length, since it has been held where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or workable ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233.

11. Regarding claims 12-15, Bowman in view of Simmons discloses the invention except for the location of the center of mass and displacement variations. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have the center of mass of the displacement closer to the backside of the lure since it has been held that discovering an optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art.

Art Unit: 3644

12. Regarding claim 16, as Bowman in view of Simmons discloses the claimed invention, it thereby is considered a wobbler as no further structure has been claimed to further define the wobbler.

Conclusion

13. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Note documents listed on attached Notice of References Cited.
